

Denver

Advising clients in Denver and nationally.–

Serving clients in Colorado and beyond with geotechnical engineering and environmental services.

The Haley & Aldrich Denver office sits south of the city, near Cherry Creek State Park. From this base, our experts collaborate with team members around the country to advise on:-

- Construction
- Contaminated site management
- EHS compliance
- ESG and sustainability
- Geotechnical engineering
- Lean consulting
- Resilience
- Water resources

Our team has consulted on a host of projects in the region, often providing integrated environmental and engineering services. For a mining client, for example, we brought together environmental consulting and construction services to save costs on the voluntary remediation of a complex closed site.-
